PROFILE

During my tenure, I accumulated two years of experience in React.js development and one year specializing in Next.js. I collaborated closely with international clients to deliver responsive and scalable web applications. My responsibilities included full-stack development, client communication, and ensuring high standards of performance and user experience. I applied my expertise in React.js to build dynamic interfaces and utilized Next.js for server-side rendering and SEO optimization, contributing to successful project outcomes and client satisfaction.
